
ABSTRACT

B² 5 The invention relates to novel non-naturally occurring cell surface receptor analogs, ligand analogs and nucleic acids encoding them. The invention further provides methods for screening of ligand analogs and bioactive agents capable of modulating the signaling activity of a non-naturally occurring cell surface receptor analog or capable of binding to a non-naturally occurring cell surface receptor analog.
